Beverages of the Week

October 1, 1993

- IBC Root Beer (12, non-alcoholic): Left of center, a Chomsky-Stallmanesque brand of root beer, with just a hint of butterscotch.
- Jamaican Ginger Beer (4, non-alcoholic): Michael Jackson says “This is the Ginger Beer with an attitude problem. It kicks wicked.”
- Catamount Amber Ale (5, alcoholic): Fancifully remorseful.
- Spaten Premium Lager (2, alcoholic): And now for something completely different...
- St. Ambroise Pale Ale (3, alcoholic): An ale that ails. Peppery, though.
- Cider Jack (4, alcoholic): A cold, clammy cider.
- Pete’s Wicked Ale (1, alcoholic): Wicked. Evil. Unrelenting.
- Sam Adam’s Boston Lager (3, alcoholic): Straight from the harbor.
- Negra Modelo (5, alcoholic): Black as the night. Darker than Norwegian hair.
- Sierra Nevada Pale Ale (3, alcoholic): Remember “Treasure of the Sierra Madres”? Same thing—unhappy ending.
- Harp Lager (3, alcoholic): Tinny, not woody.
- New Amsterdam (3, alcoholic): Better than the old one. Fewer drugs, less gun-running.

Alcoholic beverages are $1.50 per bottle.
Non-Alcoholic beverages are $1.00 per bottle.
